13 Months, an average of 1,830 "Wants" Pub-

PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, MAY 30, 1889.

PRICE ONE CENT.

Flowers for the Graves of the Union's Dead but Unforgotten Brave.

President Harrison Reviews Brooklyn's Parade and Vice-President Morton New York's.

A Fine Array of Marching Soldiers, Flags, and Military Bands.

President Harrison Holds a Reception Prior to Going to Washington Park.

One of the National colors was wanting in the sky this morning. Instead of an overarching vau't of blue, which would have been the most fitting color for heaven to wear on Memorial Day, a pearly mist overspread the whole zenith in the earlier part of the foreneous.

The fine, prickling mist, soft and Springlike though it was, frightened off some of the veterans, who feel not only the thrill of glory in their hearts on Decoration Day, but also some inglorious twinges of rheumatism in their joints and veteran bones.

But instead of developing into the threatened rain, nature, after shedding this tribute of gentle tears upon the graves of the boys in blue who sleep in peace with their country's blessing upon them, beamed into smiles of joyful brightness, as if she recalled the good deeds they had done and could not be too

From 7 80 all the uptown trains on the "L" roads on both sides of the town carried scores of blue-coated soldiers. Their bronzed faces were fresh and bright and the lapels of their coats had jaunty boutonnieres.

The line began forming at some time before 9 and at that hour Graud Marshall William P. Walton started the processson from Fifty-ninth street, where the men had gathered. Each cross street was blocked where Fifth avenue went throught it, by a company on ach side, drawn up ready to swing into line as the procession came along. Some very pretty pictures were afforded on these streets, especially in such as had the soft green of overhanging trees to make a pleasant foil for the bright uniforms flashing Looking down one of these streets from Sixth avenue, the white helmets of the men looked like as if snow-ball blossoms had thickly fallen. At St. Lure's Hospital the ar-illery was massed, and made a beautiful picture—one that Detaille or Berne-Bellecour would dearly that Detaille or Berne-Beliecour would dearly love to paint.

The strong, compact artillerymen on their shining horses and the gleaming guns, polished till they fairly dazzled the eye with their brightness, was an enchanting picture, suggestive of war in time of peace.

The commanding officers of the several detachments gave the words of command which the lusty trumpeter interproted with his brazen horn, and with the inspiriting beat of drum and shrill notes of the fife, or the full symphony of brass, the lines advanced, wheeled and fell into the long line which streamed down Fifth avenue.

Crowds of spectators clustered on the side-

The members of Lincoln Post adorned the The members of Lincoln Post adorned the statue of the great man whose name they bore with their floral tributes, while other army posts did like honor to the other statues. The public school in East Thirteenth street sent a goodly supply of cut flowers for decorative purposes.

Grant's tomb at Riverside Park was also rich with flowers and plants, which were gnarded by an army post last night and today.

FLAGS PROUDLY FLUTTERING.

PLAGS PROUDLY PLUTTERING. From stately brown-stone houses, from the towering flats and the big hotels the National tricolor fluttered proudly in the soft morning air, waving with dignity over the hardy soldiers who were marching on the nation's day of remembrance for the defenders of its greatest rights.

day of remembrance for the defendance of greatest rights.

The whole scene was one that could not but thrill the heart of every true American.

The grand stand on Madison Square was crowded with men, women and children, the solid wall of lumanity rising in an inclined plane against the dewy verdure of the thick-leaved trees behind them.

VICE-PRESIDENT MORTON IN THE RECEIVING.

The westerly stand was occupied by the reviewing party, and the projecting platform in its cen're was plenteously draped with immense flags.

Vice-President Levi P. Morton's benignant

we have a start of the General Committee; Edward J. Atkinson, Secretary of the same Committee; Edward J. Atkinson, Secretary of the same Committee; Commit

Gov. Hill and Vice-President Morton were uncovered the greater part of the time ac-knowledging the salutes of the commanders of the posts that defiled before them. The old battered war colors were dipped as the standards were borne past the Governor's

The women broke into loud applause as wheeled and fell into the long line which streamed down Fifth avenue.

Crowds of spectators clustered on the sidewalks, on the stoops of the houses, and at the windows of the magnificent residences along the avenue.

WHEATHS OF PLOWERS.

Many of the veterans carried wreaths of flowers, with which to deck later in the day the graves of their dead comrades in arms. One l'ost carried wreaths of white immortules.

The parks and squares were of the most delicious green. Scores of school-children, clad in simple light gowns of white or blue, with masses of radiant flowers, formed a charming feature of the day.

The statues of Lincoln, Washington and The Seventh Regiment Statue in Central Park was handsomely decorated and the statues.

flowers will not be removed for three or four days.

AN IMPOSING TRIBUTE.

The first division in the march was made up of the regiments included in the brigade of the National Guards, S. N. Y., commanded by Gen. Louis Fitzgerald. Grand Marshal William P. Walton and staff at the head of eight divisions of the Grand Army of the Republic fellowed. Various organizations of veterans came next.

It was an imposing and edifying tribute of the National consideration for its brave defenders, and once more Memorial Day has been worthily celebrated by a great and grateful nation.

BROOKLYN'S REVIEW

President Harrison on the Washington Park Stand.

Joseph F. Knapp and Brooklyn again have the Chief Magistrate for their guest to-day. and 1,200 of the good people of the City of Churches-chosen mainly from the list of people invited to the reception of President Cleveland at the same place a year ago today—passed through the grand parlors of Mr. Knapp's house and met President Harrison in the art gallery between 9.30 and 10.30 this

The President arrived last evening, and slept at the beautiful residence of Mr. Knapp, Bedford avenue and Ross street.

At 8.30 this morning breakfast was served at the home of E. C. Wallace, whose wife is the daughter of Mr. Knapp.

The Wallace residence is connected with the paternal mansion by a conservatory, and during breakfast and the formal reception following it the Wheeler & Wilson band played patriotic airs on a platform erected for the purpose in the front door vard.

door yard.

The morning opened with a fine mist, hardly to be dignified by the title of rain. It did not deter thousands of people from gathering in the neighborhood, and Inspector McLaughlin and Capt. Gorman, of the Sixteenth Precinct, with thirty-five policemen, were kept very busy in keeping back the crowd.

GRANT POST DRAWN UP. U. S. Grant Post, G. A. R., 140 strong, were drawn up before the house and a constant stream of invited guests filed in at the Eedford avenue entrance, paying their respects to the President and emerging from the Ross street entrance.

THE BREAKFAST PARTY.

The breakfast party consisted of President Harrison, Private Secretary Elijah Haliord, Uongressman William C. Wallace, J. S. T. Stranahan, Henry C. Bowen, E. J. Wallace, Mayor Chapin, St. Ciair McKelroy, editor of the Brooklpn Eagle; Mrs. E. C. Wallace, Mrs. Knapp, and last, but not least conspicuous, Baby Edward Knapp Wallace, the fivemonth-old grandson of Joseph F. Knapp.

After the breakfast the party emerged and passed through the crowded drawing-room to the tesselated and delightfully lighted art gallery, escorted by Police Commissioner Bell and Dr. Daniel Simmons, of the Reception Committee, and Past Commander Calvert and S. H. Frankenberg, of U. S. Grant Post 327. Grand Army of the Republic.

Meantime Secretary Tracy, Mrs. Tracy and their daughter, Mrs. Wilmerding; Russell B. Harrison and Assistant Secretary Batcheler, of the Treasury Department, and Mrs. T. Dewitt Talmadge had arrived to assist in the reception.

THE INFORMAL RECEPTION.

THE INFORMAL RECEPTION.

The formal reception consumed an hour, after which an informal reception was given to Baby Wallace, who was brought in a wonder boy in the arms of his mamma. The President shook hands with Baby Wallace, and chucked him under the chin, much to the joy of mamms and grandma and to the half frightened surprise of the youngster.

Post Commander Calvert, of Grant Post, pinned a Grand Army badge upon the left lapel of the President's frock coat, and received a graceful acknowledgment from Mr.

ceived a graceful acknowledgment from Mr. Harrison, while Secretary Tracy was similarly AT THE REVIEWING STAND.

AT THE REVIEWING STAND.

After the reception at 11 30 the Presidential party were driven to the reviewing stand at Washington Park in four open carriages, the mist having cleared away and a warm sun lifting the moisture from the earth.

The first carriage was occupied by President Harrison and Police Commissioner James D. Bell.

Secretary Tracy, the tall and handsome young Mayor Chapin, Secretary Halford and Secretary Tracy, the fall and handsome young Mayor Chapin, Secretary Halford and Dr. Daniel Simmons were accommodated in the second; Joseph F. Knapp, Congressman Wallace, Russell Harrison and Gen. Batchelor took the third, and the fourth contained Rev. Dr. A. J. F. Behrends, St. Clair Mc-Kelway and two other gentlemen.

The reappearance of President Harrison was the signal for tremendons cheers from the crowds in the streets and avenues, while the residences of the neighborhood were brilliant in waving flags and streaming buoting, liant in waving flags and streaming busting. Secretary Tracy being honored at the Knapp mansion by the Union Jack.

"HAIL TO THE CHIEF." The band on the balcony started up "Hail to the Chief." and the Presidential party, with U. S. Grant Post as escort, were driven down Bedford avenue between the lines of paraders drawn up for the purpose on the sides of the streets, each band in turn play-ing this stirring air as the President's carriage

The party went directly to the reviewing stand at Washington Park, and then the line of march was taken up and passed in review before the stand, each division saluting the before the stand, each division saluting the President and receiving his bow in return. The parade was led by Police Sergt. J. H. Johnson and a squad of mounted police. Then came Grand Marshal Harry Knight and his staff, followed by the parade, with Alonzo Walton, of the First New York Volunteers, at its head, in the same uniform which he wore during the war.

AFTER THE PARADE. After the parade of nearly fifteen thousand men had passed the reviewing stand the Presidential party re-entered their carriages and were escorted to Brooklyn Bridge by U. S. Grant Post and the Twenty-third Regiment, the post going to Riverside Perk to decorate the tomb of Grant, while the Presidents Jarty went direct to Jersey City, there to take the 3.45 train on the Pennsylvania Railread for Washington.

THAT POLO GROUNDS CHANCE.

ommissioner Gilroy Sees Good Reasons Why the Glants Should Play There. Commissioner of Public Works Gilroy says with reference to the reoccupation of the Polo Grounds by the New York Baseball Club: "If the Board of Aldermen propose to regu-If the Board of Aldermen propose to regulate and grade One Hundred and Eleventh street through the Polo Grounds I will do the work at once. If they don't and only hold the ordinance directing that improvement as a menace I see no reason why the Club should not be allowed to play ball there.

A majority of the property-owners of the peighborhood have assured me that they are in favor of the grounds being used by the Baseball Club.

MANSLAUGHTER NOW BATTLING SLOOPS. THE GIANTS LOSE

For by the Police.

Rafferty's Death Puts a New Aspect on the Unfortunate Occurrence.

Ward Detectives Carey and Logan, and Policeman O'Reilly, of the West Twentieth street station, were looking this morning for Charles R. Partridge, senior member of the lumber firm of H. M. Partridge & Co., at Twentieth street and Eleventh avenue, who resterday struck Frank Rafferty on the head with a yard stick, from the effects of which Rafferty has since died in the New York Hospital.

Mr. Partridge lives at the Oriental Hotel, corner of Thirty-ninth street and Broadway. Rafferty was a dock watchman employed in the vicinity of Mr. Partridge's lumber yard. Bafferty, it seems, had been in the habit of watching the lumber of various firms left upon the docks over night, and collected a small sum for his trouble from each of the firms.

firms.

The Partridge concern only recently opened a yard there, their main yard being at Elmira, N. Y. Some lumber was brought from the latter place, and lay for two nights on the dock at the foot of West Twenty-first extent last week.

street last week.

Rafferty watched it, and on Saturday last called at Mr. Partridge's office and asked $1 for his care of the Company's properly.

Charles Partridge refused the money, saying that he had never hired a watchman, wouldn'

Charles Partridge refused the money, saying that he had never hired a watchman, wouldn't pay for one, and thought it was the Erie Railroad Company's business to look after the lumber, as they had unloaded the lumber on the dock against his orders.

Rafferty, it is alleged, went away, calling Mr. Partridge vile names and threatening to kill him if he did not get the dollar.

Yesterdsy morning about 10 o'clock he called at the lumber yard again, and found Mr. Partridge measuring lumber.

He demanded the dollar; it was refused and a wordy war ensued.

It ended, as reported in vesterday's Evening Wonld, in Hafferts's being struck on the head, near the base of the skuil, by Mr. Partridge with the flat hickory lumber measure he had been using.

Mr. Partridge then walked out on the street and, meeting Policeman O'Reilly, said:

"I want you to arrest a man in here who has assaulted me."

"I do not see any signs of assault on you and therefore cannot arrest the man," answered Reilly.

"Well, the tellow is drunk and I want you to take him in anyhow." said Mr. Partridge.

"Oh, if he is drunk I'll take him," said Reilly, starting towards the yard. Just then two men came out of the yard supporting Rafferty between them. Blood was flowing from his head.

"Who struck you?" asked the policeman. Rafferty looked around in a dazed way until he saw Partridge, when he pointed to him, saying:

"He did. Arrest bim. I will make a im, saying:

"He did. Arrest bim. I will make a charge."

Then he became unconscious and was sent to the host-ital, where he died.

Partridge was sent to the Jefferson Market Police Court, where he said he atruck the blow in self-defense.

Justice Patterson released him in $10,000 bail for examination to morrow, although the hospital physician reported that Rafferty was alive but in a stupor.

John L. Hamilton, of 346 West Twentyseventh street, a builder, furnished bail for Mr. Partridge. The latter has a wife who lives in Elmirs, and a son in business with him in this city. Rafferty, it was said, was married, but did not live with his wife and his character was not of the best. When Rafferty died the police went again to arrest Partridge, but they could not find him. He was still missing at 11 o'clock this morphing. He did not sleep at the Oriental last night, but the police expect to have him jailed on a charge of manslaughter before

VETERANS AT GRANT'S TOMB. THE GREAT COMMANDER NOT FORGOTTEN

IN MEMORIAL DAY'S OBSERVANCE. President Harrison was not able to be present, as expected, at the ceremonies at Gen. Grant's comb in Riverside Park this afternoon. He sent word that he was obliged to return to Washington immed ately after the Brooklyn parade. The services at the tomb were arranged by Grant Post. G. A. R., and 3.30 P. M. was the time fixed for the opening with Chopin's funeral march by the Bridgeport band.

After the reading of the ritual of the Grand Army Beethoven's dirge will be played and the Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley will deliver an oration.

A salute will then be fired by Company B of the Seventy-first Regiment, followed by a bugle call.

At the last bugle call, and while muffled drums are beating "taps," the Gal na, anchored in the river, will fire a sainte of twenty-one guns.

BASEBALL STANDING OF THIS MORNING.

The League. | New York | 16 | 13 | 552 | Wash'ngt'n | 6 | 17 | 361 | American Association. A Year Ago To-Day.

AMERICAN ASS'N. | West | Lost | For | Proceedings | Procedings | Proceedings | Proceedings | Proceedings | Procedings | Procedings | Proceedings Spain's First Trial by Jury.

jury took place here yesterday. The court-room was crowded with members of the bar and other spectators of the novel scene. Fast Trains to Washington. The average time of trains to Washington and Balsi-mers via New Line (Jersey Central, Reading and B. and O.) is faster than via any other routs. Station foot of Liberty st.

IBY CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.

Madrid, May 30, -The first case of trial by the Larchmont Course.

They Shake Out Their Snowy Sails in a Seven-Knot Breeze.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD, I LARCHMONT YACHT CLUB, N. Y., May 30 .the race here between the well-known sloops Shamrock, owned by J. Rogers Maxwell, and Titania, owned by Col. Oliver Iselin, which has attracted such widespread attention of late.

Both yachts belong to the fleet of the New York Yacht Club and are in the 70-foot class. They will undoubtedly enter in the trial races to determine the defender of the America Cup, and the fact adds to the importance of to-day's race, which is the first of a series of matches etween boats in this class.

The present match was arranged by the Larchmont Yacht Club and was for a trophy valued at $750, in which both yacht owners are interested o the extent of $250, the remaining part being

The details of the race were under the manage nent of the Regatta Committee of the Club, of which Mr. E. J. Greacen is Chairman. The opening of the day was not very pro-itious. The mist was very heavy, but as the norning wore on the sky began to clear and the 150 yachtsmen representing the Larchmont, New York, Seawanhaka, Corinthian, New Jersey and New Rochelle yacht clubs, who came to see the race, looked to windward with a doubtful and New Rochelle yacht clubs, who came to see the race, looked to windward with a doubtful eye.

The wind was blowing a ten-knot breeze from the northeast and was highly charged with moisture.

The Shamrock and Titania were early on the scene, with mainsalls shaking in the breeze and both tingging at their anchors. The Titania was in charge of Capt. Haff, of Volunteer fame, while Capt. Smith carried out the directions given him by Mr. Maxwell.

When wasting for the mist to clear away the two yachts were measured to accurately determine the number of seconds time allowance the Titania, the larger of the two by a few feet, would have to give.

The course covered a distance of twenty-seven miles, from the Larchmont club-house to and around a stakeboat anchored in Hempstead Harbor, thence around stakeboat anchored halfamile southwest of Stamford Harbor lighthouse, and return by same course.

The start was announced for 10.30, but the crowd stood around until afternoon waiting for it to clear.

At 12.10 Mr. Greacen announced that the crowd stood around until afternoon waiting for it to clear.

At 12.10 Mr. Greacen announced that the start would be made in twenty minutes. By this time the atmosphere had cleared, but the breeze had lessened its force, so that it scarcely blew seven knots. The yachts crossed the line as follows:

THE UNVEILING IN CHICAGO.

MAYOR CREGIER ACCEPTS THE STATUE TO THE HAYMARKET VICTIMS.

colicemen have been guarding the Haymar ket Monument. It was feared the Anachists might undermine the precious structure. place dynamite beneath it and blow it to the

But the Auarchists did not show up, there were no mines, no dynamite, and this aftervery spot where on May 4, 1886, a bloody massacre took place and eight brave police men met death.

The unveiling was done by Master Deegan, the son of Officer Deegan, who was the first victim of Schnaubilt's bomb.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the boy pulled the ord that held the drapery of red, white, and blue, and exposed the monument to view. It is a very simple affair, being the bronze statue of a policeman, in uniform, standing with uplifted hand, on a square base, upon which are inscribed on one side the words;

"In the name of the people of Illinois I command peace," used by Capt. Ward on the night of the massacre, when he ordered the rioters to disperse, and on the other the inscription: "Dedicated by Chicago, May 4, 1889, to her defender in the riot of May 4, 1888."

1886."
Mayor Cregier accepted the monument in behalf of the city, and introduced Franklin H. Head, who made the address of the occasion.

There was no disturbance on the part of the Anarchists. Mrs. Lucy Parsons celebrated the occasion by distributing a circular entitled "The Haymarket Monument—What The screed For?"

The screed states that the monument is to be dedicated for the purpose of giving wings to the falsehood that the tragic event of May 4, 1886, was the result of an Anarchist uprising.

It suggests that the proper inscription should be: "This monument is erected to commemorate the brutality and unheard of infamy of the Chicago police force in 1886," The writer closes with an appeal to Gov Fifer to pardon the Anarchists now in soliet.

HARRISON DENIES IT.

SATS HE DID NOT PROCLAIM THE "PLEASE

ington correspondent telegraphs to-day that President Harrison has most emphatically denied the Atlanta Constitution story that he said he was going to please himself and not his party in his appointments. More Ald for Mrs. Simeoul.

INPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 80. - The News's Wash-

An anonymous writer sends $3 for Mrs. Simeoni, the poor Italian woman, and "A Friend of the Poor" also sends $1 to be applied to the same cause. "Striking" Papa.

"Papa, what reward am I going to receive for my pious observance of Lent? I haven't missed church a single morning.

Your reward will be a serener faith and a brighter Christian hope."

"Pshaw! I don't mean that. I mean how much can I strike you for to get me an Easter suit and a Spring bonnet?"

Lumber Dealer Partridge Looked Shamrock and Titania Racing on This Morning's Game to the Enterprising Hoosiers.

Released on $10,000 Bail for Assault, A Long Delay and Light Breeze Before Only a Small Crowd Turns Out to Witness the Disappointment.

New York - -

Indianapolis -

St. GEORGE, May 30.—Memorial Day and, of course, two games of ball on Staten Island. The principal thing about the grounds in the morning was fog-fog so thickly humid that had Mutrie had a tureen he could have dished the stuff. At the stroke of the second practice bell, however, the sun shook itself from behind the fog. clouds and everything, and shot its comfortable shafts down upon players, grounds and sprinkling of spectators.

The crowd was small, and ladies were in the Hatfield pitched for the Giants and Getzei was again in the box for the visitors. The batting order: NEW YORK. Gore, c. f.

George, r. f.
Richardson, 2d b.
Connor, 1st b.
Ewing, c.
Ward, s.s.
O Bourke, l. f.
Whitney, 3d b.
Hatfield, p.
Murphy, extra.
Umpire—Mr. Lynch.
The game opened ver Seery, l. f. Glasscock, s. s. Hines, 1st b. Denny, 3d b. Sullivan, c. f. Buckley, c. McGeachy, r. f. Eassett, 2d b. Getzein, p. Whitney, extra,

The game opened very blankly for both sides, but a curious double play occurred in the second inning, with Indianapolis at bat. Denny led off with a single past third and stole

He took third on Sullivan's single, and the atter was advanced to second by Hines's sacri-McGeachy rolled a grounder to Richardson, and Danny fielded the ball to Ewing.

Buck, in turn, threw to Whitney, who touched out Denny seeking to regain the base he had bandoned, and then turning, Whitney chucked the sphere to Richardson and Sullivan was caught ten feet from second. In the third inning a corking three-baser by Gore, and Denny's interference with a grounder meant for Glasscock yielded the first run of the rame for the Gients. Errors by Denny and Bassett and a clever second run. scored by Richardson in the fourth The Hoosiers in a pert and cheerful way tied the score through a base on balls for Hines, singles by Sullivan and Buckley and a wild pitch. Hines's single, an error by Ward, a wild throw to third by Ewing and a safe hit by Sultivan added two runs to the Hoosier score after two vere out in the fifth. In the cixth, with two men on bases, a double play prevented the Giants from scoring. A single by Ward and another by O'Rourke followed by brilliant steals of third and second espectively, and Whitney's timely crack right for one base earned the Giants two runs in Hines's double. O'Bourke's fumble and single by Denny and Sullivan brought in two runs for the Hoosiers, breaking the tie again.

In the eighth Richardson's double and Connor's single carned one more for the home team. The finish of the game is shown in the

OTHER GAMES.

National League. AT BOSTON-MORNING GAME.

American Association. American Association.

Athletics. 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 0—
Cincinnati. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—
Batterse. We hing and Cross; Durres and Baldwin Umpire—Mr. Goldsmith.

AT LOWELL-MORNING SAME.

AT WILEESBARR - MORNING GAME. Wilkesbarre 1 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 2 5 5 Easton 0 0 0 1 0 2 1 0 0 0 4 Batteries Fitzgereld and Williams; Turner and Himes. Umpire—Mr Corcoran.

AT JERSEY CITY.

International League. AT ROCHESTER-MORNER

AT SYRACURE - MORNING.

New York Memorials at Newburg. NEWBURG, May 30. - Judson Kilpatrick Post G. A. R., of New York, are Memorial Day guests of Ellis Post, in this city, coming to decorate the grave of their distinguished namesake.

The grave of Roundsman Montgomery, late of the New York police, was decorated by Fullerton Post at the request of Reno Post, of New York.

Mrs. Morton in Paris. [BY CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.] PARIS, May 30.—Mrs. Levi P. Morton, wife of the Vice-President of the United States, ar

To Regulate the Stemach, Liver

GROOMS AT HOME.

And, Alas! They Lose Their Pirst Game to St. Louis.

10,000 People See the Morning Contest at Washington Park.

Brooklyn .

WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN, May 80,-4 crowd of nine or ten thousand people gathers at the baseball grounds this morning to witness the initial game of the Brooklyn series between the Bridegrooms and the St. Louis Browns.

The finish' Bouches were put upon the The finish touches were put upon the new grand stand cly this morning. It is as cor nodious as the old stand, but is not quite so has asome. Up to this morning the St. Louis nine had twenty-six games won to their credit, as Byrne's pets twenty, the percentages standing 703 to 606. The Grooms had gained second place on their recent tour and hoped to pull up on the Play was called at 10.30. The batting order: BROOKLYN. Pinkney, 3d b O'Brien, l. f. Collins, 2d b. Burns, r. f. Fontz, 1st b. Corkhill, c. f.

Umpire-Mr. Gaffney. In the first inning O'Brien's cracking two-baser into left field and his neat steal of third and Collins's sacrifice brought in the first rus for Brooklyn.

and trotted to bag one.

He scored on McCarthy's swipe of a groun to left and McCarthy scored on Comiskey's out. Smith to Foutz, giving St. Louis two runs.

St. Louis scored another run in the second on Fuller's two-baser to left, Boyle's out at first and In their balf of the fifth St. Louis roored to more runs on Latham's single. Pinkney's wild throw to second and a two-bagger by O'Nelli. The Brooklyus scored a run in the sixth on a single by Burns, wild throwing by Duffee and Hobinson's error. In the seventh St. Louis brought in three runs on a single by Latham, a base on balls to O'Neill. Comiskey's single and errors by Visner.

Brooklyn scored two runs in the eighth on singles by O'Brien, Collins and Burns and a sacrifice by Foutz. The remaining story of the game is indicated in the

WHOSE LOST BOY IS HE?

A QUEER LITTLE WHITE-FROCKED STRANGER AT HEADQUARTERS.

Found Wandering Without a Hat Far Uptawn-He Says His Name Is Johnny and Jimmy, and That Potey Took Him Down to the Water-His Real Name and Lineage a Mystery-Ne One

This notice was posted up in a conspicuous place at Police Headquarters to-day :

WHOSE BOY IS THIS? We have an unknown boy here, about three years of age, gray eyes, brown hair, florid complexion, dressed in white. Found at the corner, of One Hundred and Thirty-third street and Seventh avenue at 9 o'clock F. M., May 28, by Officer Sullivan, of the Thirtieth Precinct, and thence forwarded to tails office.

General alarm sent to all precincts.

Motherly old Mrs. Webb is puzzled over porter of THE EVENING WORLD this morning that she could make nothing out of him. The boy is a sturdy little chap, who, judg-ing from his size, is nearer five than three years old. He has red cheeks, a well-tunned forehead, and a big head, and looks as if he could tell a great deal more about himself than any one has yet been able to get out of him. His white dress and pinafore are nest and clean and his manner and appearance are those of a child who has been well brought up and properly taken care of.

At first he would say nothing about himfelf, and even now they have not found out what his name is felf, and even now they have not found out what his name is.

This morning when Mrs. Webb was questioning him he volunteered the information;

"Mamma says I mustn't tell my name."

"Where is your mamma?" was asked him.

"Manma left me on the stairs."

"Where is your pana?" "Where is your papa?"
"I don't know. Petey says I haven't got any father."
"Who is Petey?"

"Who is Petey?"
"I don't know,
"What did Petey do with you?"
"He took me down to the ferry. I saw the boats sailing on the water."
When asked his name be refused to tell it,
but said "yes" when asked if it was Jimmy.
He made the same answer when asked if it was Johnny.
When the reporter went away Jimmy was playing contentedly on the floor with a box of blocks and two sheets of colored paper.
He said he was having a good time, and spparently he spoke the truth.

Tupper and the Fisheries. INT CABLE TO THE PARSS MEWS ASSOCIATION.

LONDON, May 30.—Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has arrived here to consult with the Government in regard to the reopening of the Seberice negotia-tions with the United States.

You want BRADTCROTINE for Headache. "."